Rhonda graduated from Mid-Prairie High School in 1982. She was united in marriage to Robert Hagist, later divorcing, and had three cherished daughters.

Rhonda worked in the food industry for many years before retiring to full-time Grandma. She enjoyed gardening, thrift store shopping, golfing, being outdoors and spending time with her friends and family. Her greatest blessing were her grandchildren who she loved spending time with.

She is survived by her three daughters: Bobbi Miller and husband Ben of Marengo, Iowa, Heather Robbins and husband Ryan of Klemme, Iowa, and Amanda Greiner and husband Bret of Washington, Iowa; four grandchildren: Ava and Maddox Miller and Olivia and Nile Greiner; two brothers; Scott Simpson of Sinclairville, New York and Ronnie Simpson from Winfield, Iowa; and her long time best friend, Carmen Smith, of Washington, Iowa.

Her granddaughter, Aubrey Robbins, will greet her in heaven along with her parents, Ron Simpson, Linda Miller and Jarold Miller.

Compass Memorial Hospital, Essence of Life Hospice and Rose Haven Nursing home

“ Rhonda was a wonderful soul. I knew her growing up had many great times and went thru some hard times together also. Had just talked with her a couple weeks ago all's she talked about were her grandkids. She seemed very at peace with herself.

God Bless you Rhonda and all your family.

“ Rhonda was a significant part of my childhood, being a good friend and coworker with my parents, I got to spend lots of fun nights and weekends with her at Hoodwinks, and then taking on the very eventful task of babysitting the girls. (I think that's when my hair started falling out). I will cherish those memories and that crooked smile and beautiful soul. Rest in peace my friend!
